The Mulia - Nusa Dua, Bali As post-quarantine travel rebounds, Forbes Travel Guide offers a sneak peek at its 2021 Star Award winners to provide some escape inspiration. These early hotel and spa winners were all inspected prior to the COVID-19 closures. The full slate of honorees will be unveiled in spring 2021. To find the world's best properties, Forbes Travel Guide's inspectors check into a hotel for a minimum stay of two nights, disguised as regulars and pay their own way. Incognito inspectors test up to 900 objective, strict standards – such as whether you are greeted curbside by an employee within 30 seconds of arrival, whether the bedroom is exceptionally clean, and whether the turndown service contains a special or thoughtful element. The ratings calculate 75 percent of a hotel's score based on its service and 25 percent from the quality of its facilities. Bettie Grace Miner Montage Hotels & Resorts swept the five-star hotel category. Newcomers Montage Deer Valley in Park City, Utah, and Montage Palmetto Bluff in Bluffton, South Carolina, joined repeat five-star receivers Montage Kapalua Bay in Maui, Montage Laguna Beach and Montage Los Cabos in achieving the top honor. This makes Montage the second all five-star hotel company in Forbes Travel Guide history (Peninsula was the first in 2019). The brand will look to continue its winning streak when Montage Healdsburg in Sonoma debuts in late fall. Taking in the mountains, with ski-in/ski-out access to the skis next to the lifts at Deer Valley Resort, Montage Deer Valley is a paradise for skiers. But the hotel, which celebrates its 10th anniversary this year, offers far more. The alpine pool overlooks the mountains of the Empire Pass, its cozy artisan-style rooms have gas fireplaces and the Four-Star spa doles out Tata Harper facials and wellness offerings like outdoor mountain power walking and a Muscle Mania sculpture class. About 20 miles west of Hilton Head, Montage Palmetto Bluff embodies Lowcountry elegance. The hotel's 20,000 acres include groves of oak draped with Spanish moss, a Jack Nicklaus Signature Golf Course, dining options along the May River, a Fire-Star spa that uses local ingredients (like minerals from the aforementioned river) and charming cabins with screened-in verandas that almost require you to relax with a glass of cold sweet tea. Step into Houston's only five-star hotel. Post Oak Hotel at Uptown Houston Elsewhere stateside, Houston landed the first Five-Star hotel in the city's history. Clinching the coveted title was The Post Oak Hotel in Uptown Houston, which also boasts the only Five-Star spa in Texas, a two-story Rolls-Royce showroom, a museum-caliber art collection (including pieces from Frank Stella and Alex Katz) and a library of Assouline books. While the skyscraper first opened in August 2019, the Four Seasons Hotel Philadelphia at Comcast Center rose to the top of our Star Awards list with a double Five Star win. Located in the nation's 10th tallest building, the Four Seasons offers breathtaking views of Philadelphia, though the floral interiors of Jeff Leatham are equally eye-catching. The 60th floor JG SkyHigh cocktail bar promises the best views, but 57. Conrad Washington, DC received four-star honors. Conrad Washington, D.C. In D.C., the newly built Conrad Washington, D.C. took a Four-Star award. Peter Malinowski For those seeking some post-quarantine self-care, a trio of spas joined the Five-Star elite. In Palm Springs, Agua Caliente Resort Casino Spa Rancho Mirage's Sunstone Spa spans 10,500 square feet and spotlights unique treatments like Desert Rain Massage, which employs botanicals from the local chaparral plant to boost immunity and reduce stress. For Rocky Mountain relaxation, visit The St. Regis Aspen Resort's Remède Spa Aspen, a forward-looking facility with soothing waterfalls, a refreshingly cold jump, an oxygen lounge (which helps with altitude sickness) and CBD treatments. A desert oasis, The Spa at the Four Seasons Hotel Las Vegas incorporates the traditional (facials and a healing after-sun wrap) with the unconventional (a molten stearin massage, cupping and table Thai yoga). There were other notable results throughout North America. Canada saw several important victories. Launched in May 2019, The Four Seasons Hotel Montreal claims to be the city's only five-star winner for both its modern design hotel and its soothing spa with gold-inspired treatments. The spa at the Four Seasons Hotel Toronto also snagged a top price. The largest urban spa among all Four Seasons properties, Toronto respite recently revamped its Cloud 9 Oasis, a seasonal terrace where you can go for treatment for some healthy mezze and Yorkville panoramas. Escape to Chileno Bay's Five-Star spa. Chileno Bay Resort & Residences, Auberge Resorts Collection In Mexico confirmed Auberge Resorts Collection Los Cabos as a for luxury. Rock Cliff and its palapa-topped spa garnered Five-Star honors. Sister property Chileno Bay Resort & Residences, Auberge Resorts Collection cemented itself as a wellness destination with the newly minted Five-Star Auberge Spa Chileno Bay. Auberge Spa permeates the local Baja culture in its services and has one of the best gyms in Los Cabos. And Solaz, A Luxury Collection Resort, Los Cabos, a modern, sleek beach retreat, earned Four-Star honors.
